MARKING HISTORIC SPOTS IS PLANNED

For Benefit of Numerous Strangers and War Workers in Washington.

COMMITTEE HAS IDEA

In order that the thousands of strangers now in Washington may become acquainted with the points of historic interest in their nation's capital a movement is on foot to have these places marked, at least for the period of the war.

The permanent committee on marking points of historic interest already has stored away about 200 attractive tablets, which they have been placing on the most important landmarks for inaugurations and large conventions.

Many Want Markers Put Up.

William P. Van Winkle, chairman of that committee, received with approval today the suggestion coming from many old residents of the city that the markers be put up. The tablets are now lying in storage. Mr. Van Winkle said the cost would be insignificant. It is probable that the chairman will talk the proposition over with other members and in the near future may call the committee together to consider the plan.

"There is no question," said Mr. Van Winkle, "but that the thousands of war workers now in our city and the hundreds of other strangers who are coming and going daily would be greatly interested in knowing of the many places in the District which have historic value because of association with former Presidents and other men who distinguished themselves in American history."

Appointed Several Years Ago.

The committee on marking points of historic interest was appointed by the Commissioners a number of years ago and it has been the desire of the members of the committee from the beginning to see the landmarks of the National Capital permanently marked. It is not unlikely that the present situation may result in the first step toward the realization of their plan.

Mr. Van Winkle sees in the permanent marking of the city's historic spots an opportunity to arouse greater interest among the people of the nation in their capital city. If the markers already in possession of the committee were put in place, he pointed out, the strangers would find something else besides scores of government buildings to interest them as they walk about the city.

Historical Sketch on Each Tablet.

Each tablet contains a brief sketch of the history of the spot where it is placed. They attracted great interest even among younger natives of the District on the several occasions when the tablets were on display.

The officers of the committee on marking points of historic interest are: Mr. Van Winkle, chairman; William P. Cox, vice chairman; Marcus Benjamin, vice chairman; C. C. Magruder, Jr., historian; J. Kennedy Stout, secretary; and Clarence Corson, treasurer.

BUILDING INDUSTRY MEN TO HOLD A CONFERENCE

Will Meet at Atlantic City July 15-16 to Plan for Co-Operation With U. S. in War Work.

Important problems of priority and of labor will be considered at a national convention of the building industry, comprising building material associations, architectural and engineering societies, builders' association and industrial concerns, at Atlantic City, July 15-16, upon the call of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and with the co-operation of the War Industries Board.

The purpose of the convention is to "consider ways and means whereby the various divisions of the building industries can find a common ground upon which they may co-ordinate assistance to the government during the war; to develop machinery whereby the industries can speak with a united voice upon matters affecting all interests involved, and to consider projects for the re-establishment and maintenance of the general prosperity of the industry as a whole."

Question of Priority.

The convention program will give prominence to a consideration of the question of priority in the construction of buildings, in the transportation of materials and fuel and in capital interests and general finance. Labor problem will also be considered with regard to the procurement of labor, competition for labor and the standardization of wages.

All the societies, associations and prominent concerns connected with the building industry throughout the country will be represented, and each organization has been asked by the United States Chamber of Commerce to name one delegate as its spokesman to serve upon a central war service committee. This committee will elect an executive board of nine members to speak for the industry on all matters affecting the industry as a whole and to work in co-operation with the War Industries Board, the Capital Issues Committee, the Federal Administration and other government bodies.

Committee on Organization.

The present informal organization of the building industry was perfected at a meeting of representatives of the industry held in New York June 14 through the initiative of Allen Walker, the New York representative of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. At that time the following committee on organization was appointed: B. F. Amick, Chicago, Ill.; A. J. Madhok, Toronto, Ont.; E. Lindsey, Minneapolis, Minn.; F. H. Chapin, Cleveland, Ohio; J. R. Higgins, Philadelphia; and W. D. Baldwin, W. H. Powell, H. H. Murdock, Rudolph P. Miller, F. T. Miller and Edgerton Swartout of New York city.

The resolutions are in part as follows:

"Resolved, by the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders of the United States and Canada in convention assembled this the 8th day of July, 1918, That it pledges the wholehearted and undivided support of its members to the President and the Congress of the United States in carrying on the war to a successful conclusion, in order that militarism and autocracy shall be eliminated for all time, and the world made safe for democracy."

The Washington branch of the union, composed of 900 bookbinders and bindery women, is represented at the convention by Edward Flanagan, William C. Connor and Miss Nannie Daniels. The convention will close this evening.

APARTMENTS BOUGHT FOR TELEPHONE WOMEN

$300,000 Paid for the Alabama and the Monroe by Chesapeake and Potomac Company.

For the accommodation of the increasing number of its woman employees the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company this week purchased the Alabama and Monroe apartment houses for approximately $300,000.

The Alabama, which is located at 11th and N streets, was purchased from John L. and Bates Warren, joint owners, and the Monroe, at 15th and M streets northwest, was purchased from John L. Warren. It is understood that possession will be given to the company as soon as release of the leases of the present tenants can be arranged. The sale was made through the real estate firm of Weaver Brothers.

It is reported the telephone company intends to convert the apartments into hotels for their employees. The company has found it necessary to own its housing facilities under the present pressure for apartments throughout the city. The two apartments were purchased, it was stated, first to provide the necessary room, while the big dormitory on 15th street between G and H streets is being completed and to furnish overflow space afterward.

MORE FOR AMUSEMENTS; LESS FOR RAIL TRAVEL

Comparison of Revenue Receipts for May and February Indicates Changes.

The American people are spending slightly more for amusements, but less for travel, as the war progresses. This fact is revealed in a comparison of the May receipts of taxes collected by the internal revenue bureau with the receipts for previous months.

Taxes collected during May by the 10 per cent charge on admissions to theaters, concerts, cabarets and like places amounted to $4,524,896, indicating that the American people spent approximately $45,000,000 on such amusements during the month. In February taxes from the same source totaled $3,708,000, indicating an expenditure of approximately $37,000,000. The 8 per cent tax on passenger fares during May yielded $2,723,920, which shows that approximately $46,549,000 was spent in traveling during the month. During February the same tax raised for the Treasury was $4,465,200, representing expenditures for traveling of $56,820,000.

DOUBTS ARMY MAIL RESULT.

Mr. Burleson Comments on Method of Handling Soldiers' Letters. Postmaster General Burleson, responding to a Senate resolution for information regarding the movement of mail to American soldiers overseas, informed the Senate yesterday that he has "grave doubts" whether the new arrangement by which the Army assumes charge of the mails at American ports "will result in complete satisfaction." Secretary Baker has told the Senate that the new plan has resulted in improved service.
